

MONDAY, JANUARY 24. 1743.

Monday arrived a Mail from France, and another from Holland.

Petersbourg, Jan. 8.

His Majesty that is to act on the Side of Finland, in case the Peace is not concluded, will be commanded by General Labras; General Keith, who commands there at present, being intended Commander in Chief of the Troops which are assembling on the Frontiers of Persia. Her Imperial Majesty has already sent him the Order of St. Andrew, and a present of 15,000 Rubles, and proposed to the Command before mentioned. He desired, however, to be excused from accepting those Marks of her Majesty's Favour, and persists in the Demand of his Dismissal, which is said to be owing to a Desire of engaging into the Spanish Service, in which he is promised great Advantages. Her Imperial Majesty has sent Instructions to her Minister at the Prussian Court, to present a Memorial to the King, in order to engage him to ratify the Treaty lately concluded between this Court and that of Great Britain, as the Czarina has already done that of Breslau. Her Imperial Majesty has actually issued Orders for the Discharge of the Prince and Princess of Brunswick, and they were to set out on the 1st Instant for Germany.

Stockholm, Jan. 13. A very high Storm is risen here when we expected a Calm; Count Lewenhaupt finding himself condemned by the Council of War, and not willing to abide their Sentence, presented a Memorial to the States, setting forth, that what appeared Criminal in the Eyes of his Judges, was, in him, entirely Obedience to the Commands signified to him by the Ministry. That according to the Constitution of the Kingdom, the Ministry ought always to submit to the Civil Power, and therefore prays, that the Matter of Fact, and the Motives upon which those Orders were grounded, may be reviewed into by the Diet, who are the only proper Judges of the Administration of Publick Affairs. Upon reading this Memorial, the two lower Orders of Burghers and Peasants immediately took fire, and declared, that notwithstanding the Distresses, they would consent either to ordinary, or extraordinary Supplies, if a Committee was appointed agreeable to the Prayer of that Memorial. The Clergy and Nobility, after several Conferences and Consultations, proposed the following Expedient, viz. That a Committee of the Diet should be appointed to enquire into such Points of State as Count Lewenhaupt should lay before them; but, at the same time, they were directed to leave all such Points as related to his Conduct as an Officer, to the Council of War. This was so far from giving Satisfaction to the Burghers and Peasants, that they have risen in their Disorders, and insist on an Enquiry into the Grounds of the present War with Russia, and of the Conduct of the Ministry during the whole War, so that Things are in greater Ferment than ever. Our Plenipotentiaries arrived at Abo in Finland on the 26th of last Month, and the Russian Plenipotentiaries are also there, the British and Dutch Ministers, who are to act as Mediators, will very speedily go thither.

Torun, Jan. 11. If Count Gages had really an Intention to act offensively against the Austrians, he has obliged to lay it aside by the Rigour of the Season. We are told here, that the irregular Troops, to the Number of between 2 and 3000, have actually quitted Count Traun's Army, in order to return home, notwithstanding he offered them two Sequins a Man, and Leave to depart in May. It is also said, that an Epidemic Distemper prevails in his Army, and that the Piedmontese have actually left him, in order to return into their own Country. All this good News, however, is mingled with a little bad, since there are certain Advices from Poland, that the Austrians are to receive a Reinforcement of 14,000 Men from Germany by the 1st of March, which will enable Count Traun to keep his Ground, even if the former Report should prove true.

Paris, Jan. 8. The King, our Sovereign arrived here on the 2d, and the Marquis d'Ormy, his Prime Minister, on the 3d. Yesterday the said Marquis distributed a Memorial to all the Ministers of Foreign Powers residing here, containing the Reasons of his Majesty's Retreat out of Savoy, and a complete Refutation of all the false Suggestions in relation to a Cessation of Arms, or a secret Treaty, which were said to have been negotiated between his Majesty and the Court of Spain. The Memorial concluded with observing, That the King was obliged to retire in consequence of the Enemy's Superiority, but that his Majesty made no Question that thro' his own Industry, and the generous Assistance of his Allies, he should be able to re-enter Savoy in the Spring, and prevent all the fatal Consequences that must inevitably follow the Spaniards penetrating into Italy.

Prague, Jan. 17. We expect every Day to see the Tribunal of Enquiry opened here, in relation to the Conduct of the Subjects of this Kingdom during the late Troubles. Several of the Nobility are already arrested, and among the rest the Prince of Mansfeld. As to the Hostages which were carried off by M. Belleisle, they were very ill used. Father Keisch was retaken by the Hussars, but was so bad that he could not be brought hither; Count Joachim de Pachta is dead of a Cholick, occasioned by his being exposed to the Cold; and out of Five of the Hostages who are returned hither, Three are judged to be past Hopes of Recovery. This has extremely irritated the People, and it is thought the French Partizans will suffer severely. We have Letters from the Frontiers which say, That our Hussars and Croats are so strangely metamorphos'd, that they hardly know one another. The Plunder of the French Wardrobes in their March to Egra, has equipped them with so many Laced Coats, Scarlet Cloaks, Furr'd Sturtouts, Hats and Feathers, and other Pieces of Finery, that they are all become Beaus; and as for Watches, Tobacco-Boxes, Swords, Canes, Rings, &c. they keep an open Market for them, where however they sell for scarce the tenth Part of their Value. We have this Moment Advice, that the City of Egra is surrendered, and that the Army of Prince Lobkowitz has happily penetrated into the Palatinate.

Berlin, Jan. 22. It is certain that his Majesty discovers every Day more and more Concern for restoring the Peace of Germany, and the Steps he takes towards it are so well laid, and so judicious, that none of the Parties engaged in the War can pretend to take Offence. Conferences are held daily between the Foreign Ministers, with great Appearance of Cheerfulness and Unanimity. It is, however, certain, that the Marquis de Vallori is under mortal Inquiets. The King, it seems, insists on the Departure of all the French Forces immediately out of the Empire, as having no Pretence to remain any longer, since all its States are ready to support the Emperor in his Dignity, and to take a due Care of his Person and Dominions. Our Court is about to enter into very strict Engagements with that of Russia, and it is generally believed, that the Prince Royal of Denmark will marry his Majesty's Sister; and, in that Case, the Danish Court will probably be made easy on the Head of the Dutchy of Sleswick, which will prove a Means of settling all Matters right between that Crown and Sweden, and probably defeat all the fine-spun Schemes of the French in favour of the Duke Deux-Ponts.

Hague, Jan. 27. The States of Holland have adjourn'd till Thursday next. General Pratorius, who has quitted the Danish Service to enter into ours, arrived here Yesterday. It is confirmed by private Letters from Petersbourg, that her Imperial Majesty, and his Imperial Highness the Duke of Holstein, were arrived there in good Health, and were received with all possible Marks of Loyalty and Affection. The following Memorials from the British and Prussian Ministers were presented to the States-General on the Day they are dated.

High and Mighty Lords,

The under-written Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary from his Britannick Majesty, has Orders from the King his Master, to communicate to your High Mightinesses the subjoined Copy of the Defensive Treaty of Amity and Guaranty, concluded at Westminister the 18th of November last, with his Majesty the King of Prussia; and for the farther Information of your High Mightinesses, to add also the Copies of such Treaties as are mentioned therein.

Your High Mightinesses will see by this Communication, that it was among the first Cares of the High Contracting Powers, to give a Proof of their particular Attention and constant Friendship for your Republick, by making it an express Article in the Treaty, to invite your High Mightinesses to accede thereto. This is the Commission of which I have the Honour to acquaint myself at present, in the Name of the King my Master; as the Minister of his Prussian Majesty has Orders to do the like, on the Part of the King his Master.

Their Majesties make no doubt, that the laudable Motives and salutary End which they had in View in making the present Treaty, will determine your High Mightinesses to give it, without Loss of Time, the Weight of your Concurrence, not only to watch in conjunction over the common Cause, and the Protestant Religion, but also to provide effectually, as well in this critical Juncture, as in Times to come, for the mutual Defence of the contracting Parties, conformable to the ancient Ties of Friendship, and natural and invariable Interests of the three Powers; Interests that never demanded a more sincere and close Union, than in the critical Conjunction in which Europe finds itself at this Day.

Hague, Jan. 19, 1743.

ROBERT TREVOR.

High and Mighty Lords,

The King my Master, since his Accession to the Throne, has had it constantly at heart, to cement more and more that Friendship which has so long subsisted between his Royal and Electoral House and your Republick, and which being founded in reciprocal and permanent Interests, has never yet suffered the smallest Interruption.

With this View, and to give a strong Proof of his Esteem and Friendship for your High Mightinesses, his Majesty has commanded me to communicate to you the Definitive Treaty of Peace concluded between him and the Queen of Hungary; as also the Defensive Treaty of Alliance lately made between his Majesty and the King of Great Britain, and to invite your High Mightinesses to accede to them.

Both the one and the other of these Treaties have no other Tendency, as your High Mightinesses will perceive by the Copies annexed, than to establish the Repose of Europe, to advance the reciprocal Interest of the contracting Powers, and to the mutual Defence and Guaranty of their States and Possessions. His Majesty has enter'd into no offensive Engagement of what Nature soever. It is this that gives him the less Reason to doubt that the Republick will readily enter into Measures which propose so desirable, and at the same time, so pure a Design as that which has been express'd.

The underwritten Minister acquits himself of these Orders with a Satisfaction equal to the Desire he has to see, during his Residence with your High Mightinesses, the Bands of Amity, which unite the King his Master and this Republick so strictly drawn, as to render them indissoluble.

Hague, Jan. 19, 1743.

The Count de PODEWILL.

Extract from the Paris Almanac.

Paris, Jan. 30. By Letters from Genoa, dated the 16th, we are informed, That all Things are in Confusion in Corsica, and that the Republick is so much embarrassed, that Publick Prayers, and a Fast for three Days, have been appointed by the Council.

The Court has sent Orders to pacify the Towns of Metz, Toul, Verdun, Nancy, Thionville, &c. and to levy the Militia in Lorraine at the Rate of one for six.

We are informed, that the Dutch have at last enter'd into the Measures of the Court of London, and are disposed to act vigorously in the Beginning of the Spring, in favour of the Queen of Hungary.

Cardinal Fleury still continues very ill.
